JOSH STUMPF

Saskatchewan-born, award-winning country artist Josh Stumpf brings a raw, soulful energy to his music, captivating audiences with its authenticity and emotion. Drawing influence from a wide range of styles – outlaw country, 80s two-step, and country rock to name a few – Stumpf's voice and songwriting continue to uphold a sound that is uniquely his own. A skilled multi-genre writer, Stumpf has already made his mark in the music scene by winning the 2024 Emerging Artist of the Year award at the Saskatchewan Country Music Awards, as well as, through dynamic performances and as the co-founder of the Sunset Country Music Festival, a small but mighty Saskatchewan-based grassroots festival that raises funds to give back to the community. First introduced to listeners in 2023 with his debut single, "Drink Me A Lullaby," Stumpf celebrated his signing with MDM Recordings Inc. in 2025, and released his debut single with the label, "Highway Money," and follow-up single "Nobody Roads". Both singles went to #7 at Canadian country radio. His recent radio single "Johnnie Walker (Back To Me)" is climbing the charts and currently sits at #13. Stumpf released his latest digital-only single "Leftover Whiskey" on September 25th. The song was recorded as part of SiriusXM's Top of the Country competition, in which Stumpf finished in the Top 8.
